Facing Number One

When Wofford faced Appalachian State on September 22, it marked only the third time that the Terriers have faced a team at the top of the polls. In 1999, Wofford lost 55-14 at Gibbs Stadium to top-ranked Georgia Southern. In 2003, Wofford lost 24-9 to Delaware in the NCAA Playoffs. With the 42-31 win on September 22, it marked the first time Wofford had defeated a top-ranked team.

Wofford is "Hot"

In the October 1, 2007 issue of Sports Illustrated the Wofford College Terriers were recognized in the weekly "Hot or Not" column. According to the magazine, "The Spartanburg, S.C., Division I-AA school has reason to woof: A 42-31 win over Appalachian State (yes, those very Wolverines slayers) ended the Mountaineers 17-game winning streak. Afterward, a jacked-up Terriers crowd stormed the field."

Defense By Committee

The Terrier defense this season has received contributions from numerous players. Eighteen players have 20+ tackles on the season, while twelve players have sacks. Ten different players have intercepted a pass this season and twenty players have a pass break-up. Twenty-four players have recorded a tackle for loss.

Terriers Ground Attack

After the first playoff game, the Wofford rushing offense is second in the nation. With an average of 319.25 yards per game rushing, Wofford is behind Georgia Southern with 326.27 yards. In all of NCAA Division I, Wofford is second in rushing offense. The top FBS team is Navy at 357.36 yards per game. Here are the top five FCS teams in rushing:

Georgia Southern	326.27
Wofford	319.25
VMI	281.55
Cal Poly	272.18
Appalachian State	267.50

Carry that Ball

Wofford leads the FCS with 711 carries on the season. In all of NCAA Division I Football, the Terriers have the highest total number of carries. Navy is second in the nation with 685 carries, while Air Force is third with 660 carries. VMI is next with 647 carries on the season. Wofford has 878 total plays this season, with 711 rushes, which means the Terriers run the ball 80.9% of the time.

Rushing by Committee

Wofford has had twenty different players carry the ball this season. While Kevious Johnson leads the team with 1174 yards on 166 carries, Josh Collier (133) and Michael Hobbs (106) also have over 100 carries. The Terriers have six players in the top 16 rushers in the Southern Conference - Georgia Southern has three, Furman two, Chattanooga two, and Western Carolina, Appalachian State and The Citadel have one each. Elon does not have a rusher in the top twenty.

A Terrier Air Show?

For a team in which the passing game is often the "fourth option," the Terriers have been throwing the ball with great success in 2007. In eleven games last year, Wofford had 784 receiving yards. After twelve games in 2007, Wofford has 1421 receiving yards. Wofford has thrown 167 passes in 2007 (91 completions), over the 111 (60 completions) all of last season. Wofford has thirteen passing touchdowns in 2007, compared to only five last year.

The Defense Can Catch Too

Wofford's defense has intercepted nineteen passes in the twelve games this season. That is first in the Southern Conference and eighth in the nation, despite not having an interception in a three-game stretch against Elon, Western Carolina and Georgia Southern. Eastern Kentucky leads the FCS with 24 interceptions. Gary Blount and Brian Kemp lead the team with three interceptions each, while James Mitchell, Dan Tavani, Brian Ford, Kevin Adleman and Mychael Johnson have each intercepted two passes for the Terriers. Overall, ten players have an interception this season.

Give the Big Guys a Hand

While the guys running the ball get the attention, the guys up front on the offensive line deserve much of the credit. The big guys up front have helped the Terriers run for 3831 yards this season, and allow only thirteen sacks in twelve games. The 1.08 sacks allowed per game is second in the SoCon and 12th in the nation. In addition, the line has seen the same five starters for eleven of the twelve games - center Corey McKenna, guards Derek Tiller and Ben Miller, and tackles Ben Quick and Derek Wooten.

Wofford vs. FCS Ranked Opponents

Since the start of the 2002 season, Wofford has gone 12-11 against nationally ranked FCS/I-AA opponents ... Wofford's only contests vs. ranked opponents in 2006 were a loss to third-ranked Furman on Sept. 30 and a 14-7 loss at #2 Appalachian State on Oct. 14 ... The Terriers picked-up a 42-31 win over #1 Appalachian State on September 22, 2007, added a win over #20 Furman on September 29, then defeated #25 The Citadel on October 6 and #3 Montana on November 24.

Wofford senior quarterback Josh Collier has thrown for 918 yards and six touchdowns this season.

The 918 yards are the most by a Wofford quarterback since Travis Wilson had 1,028 yards in 2001. The five passing touchdowns matches the number Collier had last season.

Throw it to Andy

Junior wide receiver Andy Strickland has turned into a go-to receiver for the Terriers. He had a touchdown catch in three straight games this season. Against Appalachian State, he caught a 49-yard touchdown pass. Against NC State the native of Gaffney, SC, caught touchdown passes of 61- and 14-yards. The previous week against Charleston Southern he had a 47-yard receiving touchdown and added a 23-yard rushing touchdown. Strickland leads the team in receptions with 24 and his 501 receiving yards is the best on the team. The 501 yards are the most by a Wofford receiver since Jeff Scott had 503 yards in 2000. He is also second on the team with 586 all-purpose yards and his seven touchdowns are also third on the team.

The True Freshmen

The Terriers have had some strong contributions from true freshmen so far this season. HB Mike Rucker is fourth on the team with 516 all-purpose yards and has both a rushing touchdown and a kickoff return of 89 yards for a touchdown. On defense, LB Keaton Thompson has played in nine games and has 19 total tackles, including two at NC State, and a pass break-up. Touchback Tommie Wofford's junior kicker/punter Chris Tommie has 161 career kickoffs, with 78 of those reaching the endzone with 64 touchbacks. He added one touchback against Appalachian State, two against Furman, two at The Citadel, three against Gardner-Webb and one vs. Elon and Western Carolina.

He was head coach at Wofford from 1953-66, coaching many greats including Jerry Richardson and Fisher DeBerry. Snidow, a native of Princeton, W.Va., began his coaching career at Tazwell (Va.) High School. He also coached at Roanoke College - where he played football while earning his bachelor's degree - and Emory & Henry College, where he led two teams to the Tangerine Bowl. He is a member of the athletic halls of fame at Wofford, Emory & Henry, and Roanoke. Snidow was an offensive innovator. He was one of only a handful of coaches to use the option-oriented Wing-T formation, and some of his former players say he invented the veer long before Bill Yeoman - the University of Houston coach who was credited with creating it. Snidow compiled a 77-59-4 record while coaching the Terriers.

Name Change

On December 15, 2006, the NCAA adopted new terminology to represent the over 200 football playing institutions that compete in Division I. The NCAA eliminated the I-A and I-AA designations and has streamlined all of its Division I football programs into two subdivisions: Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) and NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS). The FBS includes those programs that compete in an effort to participate in the postseason bowl system (the 32 NCAA-licensed events which include the Bowl Championship Series). The FCS includes those programs (such as Wofford) that compete in an effort to participate in the NCAA championship postseason structure (one of 88 NCAA national championships). FCS has a limit of 63 scholarships, while the limit for FBS schools is 85.

Previous Name	New Name
Division I-A	NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision
I-A (acronym)	FBS
Division I-AA	NCAA Football Championship Subdivision
I-AA (acronym)	FCS

College Football Rule Changes

The NCAA has enacted a number of rule changes for 2007. One change that will be most obvious is moving kickoffs from the 35-yard line back to the 30 in order to create more kickoff return opportunities. Two other key rules that were in effect in 2006 and were intended to help speed up the game have been rolled back. This year, as was the case in 2005, the game clock will stop when a team earns a first down and the clock will start on kickoffs when the return team legally touches the ball, rather than when the kicking team contacts the ball.

Recent Success

Wofford has finished among the top four teams in the Southern Conference race in five of the last six years, winning two SoCon Championships. The Terriers have won 31 of their last 44 conference games over the past six seasons. Over the last six years, Wofford is the second-winningest program in the Southern Conference trailing only two-time national champion Appalachian State.
